A BOON IS IN STORE FOR THIS CITY.

Reno is on the Up Grade--The Newly Discovered Mines Will Vastly Help the Town.

For two years Reno has enjoyed steadily growing prosperity. The building trades have been active and renters and purchasers have more than kept pace with the erection of business and residence structures.

While the growth has up to this time been steady and constant, there is every indication that a real boom, one unprecedented in the history of the town, is in store for Reno this season. Real estate values are rapidly going up. Population is coming in. Industries are starting up. Railroad extensions are being built.

But what is the chief cause for the boom in mining discoveries. A year ago there was not a producing mine in the vicinity and only a few were engaged in prospecting. Today mining is the chief industry of the town.

At least six claims are producing ore in carloads lots and some are shipping steadily. Two mines at least are yielding $1000 a day each.

Discoveries are reported every few days. A host of men are working in the hills. Some big strikes will be made this season and by fall there will be heard the whistle of smelters and falling of stamps in this erstwhile agricultural community.

Reno bids fair to become in a few months the leading mining camp of the State. Peter Kurtz, one of the owners of the famous Boulder Hill mine in California, said to the writer yesterday after he had inspected the mines in Bryan City: "If the Western district was situated a thousand miles from civilization there would be an exodus in its direction immediately. I think it is one of the most promising districts in the west. It will become a heavy producer."

This is at present the consensus of opinion of all the experts who visit the district and have no monetary interest in running down the country.

Yes, the boom is on already. The hotels are crowded. Friday night a gentleman arrived on the midnight train and was unable to find accommodations in the town and was compelled to camp in the Journal office until dawn. This is only an instance of the present and promised future condition of things in Reno.

HUFFAKER AND DALTON

The Two Neighbors Have Again Reason to be at Loggerheads.

If ever two reputable and well-meaning neighbors had kicks coming against each other they are Pete Dalton and Dan Huffaker. When they meet in the presence of the Great American Public they are like brothers.

Dan and Pete seem like Damon and Pythias or David and Jonathan, but out on their big ranches which adjoin on the Truckee meadows there is generally a heap of kicks coming on both sides. They have a peculiar way of settling disputes. Instead of scrapping or calling each other bad names, they seek an adjustment in the Journal, which paper, by the way, they both swear at and swear by.

Dan was in town yesterday and he had a big kick coming. If you don't believe he has good grounds for a suit for damages, just read his tale of woe. Dan had a man from Nelson's employment agency. It was a green man from the off-shore coast. He put him to work plowing up some clover ground.

"Run your first furrow straight for Pete Dalton," said Dan.

Now, as it happened, Pete was wetting and was sitting on the line fence engaged in whittling a shingle and watching the flow of the water which gently meandered down the furrows. He was a statue and promised to remain such for hours and hours.

The new hand started the plow team, but at that moment a cow broke through the fence and Pete had to take a few circles around the field to get her out.

Every time that Pete changed his course the new man, true to his advertisement, did ditto.

As soon as the heifer was ejected, Pete found a gopher hole that was obstructing all the water and scooped across the field to remedy that difficulty. Again the plow changed its course.

When Dan have in view he discovered that the furrow resembled General Grant's line of march. Hence you may expect a suit for heavy damages to be shortly begun.

RENO MARRIAGES ILLEGAL.

At San Francisco yesterday Judge Trout refused to recognize the validity of a Reno marriage. On March 8, 1901, he granted a divorce to John A. Coleman from Mabel Coleman and soon afterward she went to Reno and was married to E. M. Smith.

The divorce decree the custody of Kathleen Coleman, the child, was awarded to her, with the proviso that the father should have the custody if she married again. Coleman sought by means of a writ of habeas corpus to secure possession of his daughter, but Judge Trout dismissed his petition on the ground that the Reno marriage was illegal.

REPRESENTATIVES CHOSEN.

At a meeting of Amity Lodge, No. 3, K. of P., Friday evening the following representatives to the grand lodge were chosen: Allen C. Bragg, B. N. Child, James T. Davis, Sol Levy, W. H. McInnis, W. D. McNeilly, Samuel Swanaway, N. E. Wilson.

PETE CHAMPETRE.

The Reno high school students and their visitors were pleasantly entertained last night by Miss Edna Thyes at her home on Third street.

AT THE RIVERSIDE.

Don't let your wife tell over a cook stove today. Take her to the Riverside for a superb Sunday dinner. Nothing is so good as the Riverside dinner.

RAID WAS SUCCESSFUL

Constable Leeper and Pecos Made a Good Clean-up Yesterday Morning.

Constable Leeper planned and executed a successful raid yesterday morning. As the dawn was breaking Leeper, accompanied by Officers Burdage and McNeilly, made a descent upon the "red light" district.

They entered place after place and thoroughly searched the houses. Three birds were caught and compelled to do their ransome. One leaped out of a back window and fell into the arms of an officer, who compelled him to jump back again.

With the exception of one place the doors were opened when the night stick of the cops played a tattoo upon them. In this one instance the door was broken in.

The names of the prisoners are Gene Eubanks, J. S. Pharr and Chas. Brown. They were all charged with vagrancy. Two were released on bail and the other is pining away in the county bastille. This raid comes near cleaning out the rear guard of the big gang of disreputables that infested the town a few months ago.

HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY.

Yesterday Willard Johnson had his preliminary hearing before Justice Linn. He was charged with assaulting Tom Phillips with intent to commit murder. The frame was a cutting off at the Reno Star Tuesday evening.

A number of witnesses were examined and Johnson was bound over to await action by the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $1500. It has not yet been forth coming.

FAREWELL DINNER.

A quiet little party gathered at the American Restaurant yesterday afternoon, the occasion being a farewell dinner given to Dr. Phillips by Dr. Hershizer.

Dr. Hershizer is an old time friend of the Phillips' brothers, and perhaps feels their departure more keenly than new friends can. Although they leave a host of friends in seeking a residence in another locality.

READ THIS.

A chicken dinner will be served at the American Restaurant today. Any one who has had the opportunity of partaking of Chef Rice's cooking knows that a menu that a better meal cannot be had. All side dishes going to make up the quality of the meal will accompany each order.

FOUGHT FOR HIS LIFE.

"My father and sister both died of Consumption," writes J. T. Weather-ly, of Wyandotte, Mich., "and I was saved from the same frightful fate only by Dr. King's New Discovery. An attack of pneumonia left an asthmatic cough and a very severe lung trouble which a prominent doctor could not help, but a few months' use of this wonderful medicine made me as well as ever and I gained much in weight. I am now free from cough, colds and all trouble for Lung trouble. Trial bottles Three and Lung trouble. Trial bottles Three. C. J. Hodgkinson.

THEY WERE ALL SCARED.

A Case of Highway Robbery With a Peculiar Ending.
What the hero of this story kicks
about is the fact that his wife forgot
her sacred word never to say anything regarding it. His business keeps him out late, and he frequently carries considerable money. When footpads are reported in evidence, he gets as near home as he can by street car and then takes the best lighted route to his house.
One night he had reached the front of his own place and had just drawn a long sigh of relief when the order
"Hands up!" startled him into compliance. One man held a gun in the immediate neighborhood of his ear and another systematically fished him of everything worth carrying off. The order then was that he wait around the block so as to defer the use of his telephone, and it was clearly stated that any attempt to turn back, run or call for help would result in his being assassinated.
Before he reached the corner it struck him that the voice of one of the men sounded familiar and then that its owner was a near neighbor greatly given to practical joking. Back he went on tiptoes, his revolver in his right hand, and surprised the footpads as they were dividing the spoils. He made them lay everything on the walk,
and when they straightened up awaiting the next order he discovered that both were total strangers. His hand dropped from sheer terror, and then the robbers ran out away, while he sprang the other. Half an hour later
he, his wife and a neighbor, a revolver
and the hired girl went out and found his money, watch, papers and diamond
pin. His wife simply related the story
by telling it first—Detroit Free Press.

A Clever Canary.
A lady who had lost a canary happened to be attracted by a bird that was hopping about in its cage in the front window of a house in New York.
Thinking that it looked very like her own, she knocked at the house door
and asked a few questions about it.
She was told that it had been found
one cold morning sitting on the window sill and was taken in and cared for. The lady said her bird could perform the pretty feat of picking up a pin and sticking it in the carpet. Being allowed to test this bird, the cage door was opened and a pin thrown on the floor. The canary at once flew down to it, picked it up in its bill and cleverly stuck it upright in the carpet,
after which it burst into song, as if rejoicing at its success. The folk of the house, believing the lady had proved
her ownership of the bird, permitted her, says Little Folks, to take the songster away to her home.
